BIO

Danni is a Sydney-based filmmaker specialising as a writer, director, and producer. Her work often delves into the complexities of the female experience, weaving narratives that linger in the viewer's mind long after the credits roll. As a writer-director, Danni gravitates towards dramas that challenge perceptions and spark important conversations.

Danni also has extensive experience in social media and editing. She collaborates with various clients, having created social media content for hit television show MasterChef Australia, UNSW Future Students, and edited the weekly podcasts Infinite Scroll and High Steaks for Centennial World.
